An Answer for Eternity

Why is it foolish to value the external over the eternal?

- It's foolish to think that the external can _____.
- It's foolish to think that the external can _____.
- It's foolish to think that the external can _____.
- It's foolish to think that the external can _____.

One final question:

Will you _____ what you cannot _____ in order to _____ what you cannot _____?

Seasons Change

Seasons come and go but the Lord rules them all

KEITH KILMER - We're still a couple of weeks away from the "official" start of summer but ask any school-aged kid and they'll tell you summer has started! School is out, vacation has started, and activities are being planned.

We're blessed to have a Father and Creator who displays such rich variety in his creation for our benefit and enjoyment. The Psalmist says in Psalm 74:17 "It was you who set all the boundaries of the earth; you made both summer and winter." God is the Lord of every season; they all belong to him.

Whatever this summer has in store for you and your family let's all be sure that our goal remains to glorify God in all things. I'm excited about all the church activities that will take place over the next several months - Mission trips both foreign and domestic, Vacation Bible School, Summer Series, youth rallies, and more. Let's take advantage of what is available so that we can grow in faith and service.

The focus of the message this morning is on answering the question of how we will spend our eternity. Even brief seasons of life can have eternal implications. The choices that we make throughout the summer months can either draw us closer to God or push us farther from him. I remember back when I was in school at the start of each school year I would find that some of my classmates had drastically changed in just two or three short months - some changed for the better and others for the worse. Let's make this a positive season that propels us into the coming year.
